Thank you for Sharing this Fun Day with us and we hope to see you back next year with a friend!

Workshop One: Ready, Set Sow

Sharon Thompson, LCMGV

Sharon will demonstrate how easy it is to diversify your garden sowing and growing plants.

Workshop Two: Seed Balls, Seed Tapes & More

Amanda Segura, Garden Education Coordinator
Riverbanks Botanical Gardens

Participants will make homemade paper mash and mix in seeds to create small seed papers. She will also demonstrate the technique to make seed balls. Go home with your seed tape.

Workshop Three: Tin Can Scarecrows

John Dickerson, LCMGV

Now that you have planted, construct a scarecrow to keep the birds and squirrels out. Come prepared to construct and outfit your scarecrow with tin cans and old clothes..

Workshop Four: Heirloom Seeds

Millie Davenport, Clemson, Director of HGIC

What is an heirloom seed and how are they saved? Go home with a package of heirloom seeds to start planting and collecting your own!

Workshop Five: Unique Garden Markers

Carolyn Rightsell, LCMGV and Dee Waddell-LCMGV

In this workshop you will learn how to make unique labels for your plants. Take home several examples.

Workshop Six: Birdie Buffet

Zach Steinhauser, Wingards Nursery and Market

Learn about all the different types of seeds that backyard birds love to eat. Join us as we make our own personal seed blend.

Workshop Seven: Delicious and Nutritious Seeds to Cook

Kathy Semon, LCMGV

Learn how to incorporate delicious seeds in your meals. Gain nutritional information. Take home samples and recipes.

Workshop Eight: Seed Storage Containers

Debby West, LCMGV

Debby will provide creative ways to store seeds and discuss the importance of humidity and temperature control. Go home with a creative seed storage container.
